We, the class of 1958, have our first recollections of Mr. Carlson as our earlier high school English teacher. We look back to the days when he was teaching us the fundamentals of the English language. To help us keep straight the difference between principle and principal, he would jokingly tell us to keep in mind that a school principal was our "pal." This has become more than a grammatical crutch for us to remember, because our principal, Mr. Carlson, has made himself a real "pal."

We have, at times, seen in him a blend of Rock Hudson and Abe Lincoln for his good looks and strong inner qualities. We admire his patience, unselfishness, fair play and marvelous sense of humor.

As a tribute, we would like to dedicate our Yearbook to Mr. Arnold Carlson, who has been truly a friend to every one of us.

. . . infinity . . . the expression of limitless, beginningless, endless quantities which pervade the universe . . .

with seeing, thinking eyes, man looked first upon himself—his hands, his legs,
his feet . . . he looked along the flat ground,
across the fields
to the trees, and still higher to the hills and mountains; then gazing higher,
he looked upon the face of the sun . . . the moon . . .
past to the stars . . .
he strained to see farther but gazed only into the vast socketless eyes of infinity . . . . . with his first searching gaze man began his ascent to a higher plane of life . . .
began reaching for the stars . . .

" . . . man's reach should exceed his grasp, or what's a heaven for?" . . .
observed Robert Browning . . . man is reaching for the stars, is attaining the moon . . . surely if he attains the stars he will have long been looking beyond . . .

. . . for the answer to the unanswerable makes god God, and man man, and lies sublimely in between,
calling each his own name
and giving each a reason for the other's being . . .

to grasp the finite, man must reach for the infinite . . .
to grasp the universe, man must reach for God . . .

BOARD OF EDUCATION

Dear Class of 1958:

We recall with pride the many accomplishments of the Class of 1958. In academic work, athletics, music, art, and leadership activities, class members have distinguished themselves and improved our school and community life. The school staff considers it a privilege to have assisted with your instruction and guidance. We have always admired your cooperation with adults and other students.

You will be entering a challenging society with elements of strong competition. The demands on young adults will be more substantial than at any other time in our history. Major changes will come regularly and frequently. Your best tools for meeting this new life will be diligence, courtesy, friendliness, humility, and courage. These qualities you have demonstrated, and we feel confident of your success.

I am pleased to extend congratulations and good wishes on behalf of the faculty and members of the student body.

Sincerely,
HERBERT C. BETTINGER

At the present time our school life is enveloped in change. The areas of physical growth, curriculum, and general educational philosophy have been molded into a transitional pattern . . . a pattern actuated and perpetuated by the demands of our nation, state, and community.

This year's senior class naturally has shared in this growth and development, and upon graduation from high school will undoubtedly be imbued with impressions of it.

I hope that you graduates of 1958 will use this idea in your individual lives—that you will continue to 'grow" in academics, industry, maturity, and vitality.

I sincerely wish the class of 1958 continued success in all their varied pursuits.

ARNOLD T. CARLSON

MR. GARY MORRISON
Guidance Director

This is the new look in guidance installed by the school board this year. Conferences with Mr. Morrison though time consuming have helped many a senior in their plans for the future.

MR. ROBERT HALL
Business Administrator

Here is more of the new look. Mr. Robert Hall was appointed business administrator of the Pittsford Central Schools. However this new post will not prevent him from accompanying the Senior Class to Washington every year.

Hi!

My marvelous experience as a summer Teen-Age diplomat to Berlin, Germany will remain with me always. The most rewarding factor of my trip was the daily family life—the work, play, hardships, and humor that were involved. Of course I struggled to utter a feeble "Guten Morgen!" or buy a postcard, but there was also the fun of eating German Kuchen and dancing European rock and roll. I hope someday to revisit the wonderful people I came to know in Berlin as a representative of our school, town, and country.

JACKIE ROSS

Hi Everybody,

Who would dare to judge a country so large and beautiful as the United States by soldiers, jitterbugs, and jet fighters? Yet many people in Germany do, especially the older generation, and they inevitably become very prejudiced simply because this is all they ever saw. When hearing about the Negro problem in the South they quickly ask the question, "How can a country proclaiming freedom for everybody since its foundation suppress people because of the different color of their skin: this is not democratic." Yet, most Germans don't try to go deeper into the subject, perhaps to find an answer.

I, however, had the wonderful opportunity through a scholarship of the American Field Service to spend this school year here at Pittsford Central and live with an American family in this community, to receive a first hand experience of American life. Now, at the end of this year, after having shared so many activities with you, unknown to me before, basketball games, watching cheerleaders, rollerskating, record shops, Senior ball, and participating in the Senior play, not forgetting the daily school, the many tests, the never-ending lunch line, and the friendliness for both teachers and students, I will take home the most favorable impression of you, your school, your community, and your country as a whole. I found answers for many things that people in Germany might not understand from their limited knowledge. Telling my friends about this at home, I shall try to contribute to a better understanding.

If you should come to Germany someday, remember not far from the famous Rhine River is Frankfort-on-Main and a few miles south you will find a place called Neu-Lsenburg. There I shall welcome you with all the friendliness you showed towards me and hope to pay back a little of the wonderful hospitality I found here.

Please, remember, I was only a teen-age diplomat. So, if I was undiplomatic sometimes, forgive me.

OUR CLASS HISTORY
1945-1958

Shortly after World War II the Class of 1958 invaded Pittsford Central School. The attack was led by MYRNA MILLARD as she pushed a male classmate through the kindergarten window. We spent our half days attempting to be angelic enough to carry milk and graham crackers for MISS WOLFER. JOHN DURSTON managed to amble in by snack and nap time.

We learned to read, write and teeter-totter, but friendships were also forming. JOAN RAMSDALE and JACK KEMPSTER enjoyed class walks, two by two, in the woods. However, another problem was confronting the teachers—the incessant babbling of JACKIE ROSS. In fourth grade we released our fears and frustrations through ANN BRIDGE'S "gang." Inspired by this gang PHIL CUFRARI began drawing little cowboys with big heads. NANCY SEARS learned that the secret to a successful birthday party was a swim in Irondequoit Creek . . . fully clothed. ROXY DARCH, with her pioneering spirit, had an overnight (girls only) in her pine (and poison ivy) woods. At this point JUDY DONOVAN was shocking all the boys in her shorter than knee-length skirts.

ED RUBEL, true to form, put gum in VALERIE SHEA'S long, Dagmar-like tresses. Also, in junior high, ARTHUR RINEHART made himself evident by his frequent absences, LINDA GARDNER dreamed of horseback riding, and GIL RODGERS developed an interest in electronics through MR. MORRISON'S general science "demonstrations."

There was a hurricane the night of our Freshman-Sophomore party, not only outside but inside too. KATHY WILSON and her two graceful partners, PETE SKAER and BOB McLAUGHLIN, entertained us with their interpretations of "Swan Lake." LAURIE WESTERMAN displayed her dimples and sang "Bell Bottom Blues," wearing the Navy uniform of the man next door.

As Sophomores we noticed the glad return of BILL FERGUSON "to the fold." MIKE MASON sat down in biology class with his customary confused look. Also two newcomers, BETTY DUNN and STEVE HOLTZ, found solace in their strange atmosphere. JOYCE and JANET BOWDEN used their "twin-sensory perception" to cop all the honor in the Badminton Tournament.

In the eleventh grade sleepy PETER BRAAL and swivel-hips JOHN MALAFRONTE arrived to start the year off with a jar. BILL HARPER began to get grey from various philosophies of death which he was pondering. At LINDA PITKIN'S slumber party DIXIE STRINGFELLOW astounded the girls with her thrilling tales. BILL HEUER desperately roamed the halls trying to translate his five-page German family tree.

With our junior play, "Cheaper by the Dozen," LINDA ERSKINE and CAROL CARLSON gained theatrical experience both on and off stage. JIM CRAIB'S cheer for "old Montclaire High" still rings in the auditorium. JOYCE REEVES, and BARBARA WAGHORN, as charming waitresses, helped make our Fish Fry a great success. The year closed with our Junior Prom, "Almost Paradise," and its long flight of stairs.

All of a sudden we were seniors, horribly involved in a three-ring circus. There was the hectic confusion of our magazine drive with LINDA DYE as top salesman. Some seniors traveled the rolling hills of Vermont or the Mid-Western states on their "college hunts." Many smudgy fingerprints and dog-eared pages were left at the Rundel Library. DOUG CRAWFORD had arrived to keep BILL LINDSAY company. The girls received a taste of Old World charm from MEINHARD FORSTER. PAT EDGAR, student director of the Senior Play, "Sky High," coached CAROL BRAUN and PETER DESPARD in their love scenes (?). BEV PIERCE and JIM PLANT vied to gain the top of the Christmas tree with their typing speed drills. A blushing Queen and gum-chewing King were crowned on a snowless night at the Senior Ball, "Snowbound." A new trend was started with "GAIL and DICK" Christmas cards. At this same time of year ERIC MILLER bought MR. PRUDOM'S little green Ford and disappeared down in the Meadow. BONNIE BURGER managed to enjoy her Senior year despite the fact that a certain Hobart frosh was missing. Meanwhile basketball games as usual managed to absorb weekends.

The school will little note nor long remember what we say here, but they can not forget what BARRY SENS did here.

Finally it came. At 5 A.M. began the long anticipated trip to Washington and New York City. This was the moment we could unload our big bank account. We had bled the community through roller skating parties, dances, fish fries, and plays to pay for the "week of all weeks in the year." PAT WAGER recorded our trip on film. Some shots appear confused and ambiguous.

The class tried to get "champion homemaker," DIANN COLE to cater for our Junior-Senior Banquet, but to no avail.

Unfortunately, we can not record a complete class history since we look forward with eagerness to the kind of history RALPH PARKER will make.

Then solemnly—hardly recognizing each other—girls teetering in high heels, boys uncomfortable in long, flowing robes and all eyes somewhat misty—we walked our last walk in the auditorium to accept our diplomas from MR. BETTINGER.

OUR LAST WILL AND TESTAMENT

We, the Class of 1958, of Pittsford Central High School, being of relatively sound mind, do hereby proclaim the following to be our last will and testament:

DICK BELL leaves his green vest to the Salvation Army.
JOYCE BOWDEN leaves her quiet ways to Charlie Pembroke.
JANET BOWDEN leaves with a nostalgia for Spencerport.
PETE BRAAL leaves his title of "God's gift to women" to Malcolm Traub.
CAROL BRAUN leaves her "chic" ways to Bob Grinnell.
ANN BRIDGE leaves to assist "Dear Abby."
BONNIE BURGER leaves her beautiful nails to Mr. Prudom.
CAROL CARLSON leaves her blond tresses to Dorothy Lauzon.
DIANN COLE leaves to join Betty Crocker.
JIM CRAIB leaves to understudy John L. Lewis.
DOUG CRAWFORD leaves in search of himself.
PHIL CUFARI leaves to join the Disneyland staff.
ROXY DARCH leaves on a slow horse to Alfred.
PETE DESPARD leaves the "hall" rendezvous to Jim Commisso.
JUDY DONOVAN leaves her "key" to success in art to Glen VanDerwater.
BETTY DUNN leaves her wide-eyed innocence to Julie Raycheff.
JOHN DURSTON leaves his business headaches to the Bufferin Co.
LINDA DYE leaves in her car, roaring past Miss Novelli's room at noon.
LINDA ERSKINE leaves her "sensuous" probings to Kirk Billington.
BILL FERGUSON leaves his melifluous voice to Jim Parker.
MEINHARD FORSTER leaves for home to improve his German.
LINDA GARDNER leaves her long golden hair to Mr. Morrison.
GAIL HANSEN leaves to join the Salvation Army to be near the green vest.
BILL HARPER leaves the Boy Scouts to go girl scouting.
BILL HEUER leaves to unify Germany.
STEVE HOLTZ leaves dreaming of his dream car.
JACK KEMPSTER leaves to find a bigger Volkswagen.
BILL LINDSAY leaves sighing "Sayonara."
JOHN MALAFRONTE leaves to find a mop that can bop.
MIKE MASON leaves his organ "strains" ringing in Mr. Prudom's ears.
BOB McLAUGHLIN leaves for better or verse.
MYRNA MILLARD leaves balanced, even if the books aren't.
ERIC MILLER leaves Miss Novelli with no strong, silent "Brownie" to do homeroom chores.
RALPH PARKER leaves his rosy complexion to Max Factor.
JIM PLANT leaves Miss Sullivan in peace.
BEV PIERCE leaves reciting, "I will not masticate the resin of the trees . . . "
JOAN RAMSDALE leaves Freddy carrying on the family Christmas tradition of "cookies for the teachers."
LINDA PITKIN leaves her soprano voice to Lynne Patterson.
JOYCE REEVES leaves to exchange her school books for a cook book.
ART RINEHART leaves school legally.
GIL RODGERS leaves his "Velvet voice" to WPCS.
JACKIE ROSS leaves an indelible mark in Germany and Pittsford.
ED RUBEL leaves his book, Relax and Live, to anyone that's interested.
NANCY SEARS leaves "hearts and roses" to Fred Wallman.
BARRY SENS leaves an emblazoned shield in the hall of the Pittsford Knights.
VAL SHEA leaves a high spot for any girl to aim for.
PETE SKAER leaves for Seneca Lake!
DIXIE STRINGFELLOW leaves, but don't worry, there's still Cookie.
PAT WAGER leaves "The Spectator" minus one good organizer.
BARB WAGHORN leaves the aroma of brownies and cookies to room 201.
LAURIE WESTERMAN leaves to find something old, new, borrowed, and blue.
KATHY WILSON leaves her dancing slippers to Dave Strong.

Bill;

Thanks for the answers in Ed. Ed. Hope I can do the same for you some day.

Dave

Bill,

Best of Luck to a swell guy and I hope to see you next year!

Hiya-Yiya

P.S. - Best of Luck in the mile!

Bill,

Hope I could have been some help to you this year.

Dave

Bill,

Best wishes to a real fast cat, and a terrible basketball manager.

Dave QUEEN

Bill,

She got secretary and you got weep!

Hmmmm!

Barb

Hi Bill,

It's been real nice knowing you in most of our classes this year. I hope you + Robin have lots of fun this year and next. (I know you will.) Best of luck on exams.

Lots of luck,

Dianne

Hi Bill

I'm going to find a cup of water in your locker someday!

Judy Billman

Hi Bill,
Lots of luck & all that stuff. Keep up the good work. Next year
I expect a 4 min. mile.
You can do it. Have a nice summer, Charlotte

Bill,
Have a nice summer
Have fun
Keep up the good work
Lots of luck
Judy

Hi Bill,
I better not say too much now. Because I always seem to say too much at other times. Seeing that Neal didn't leave me much room.

Best wishes
Ellen

Hi Bill,
It's been a lot of fun on the track team with you. (Ha, Ha, Ha)
Lots of luck at the sectionals.

Neal

Bill
You a real swell kid and I sure really got a good taste for the girls.
See you this summer.
